Fiscal Bulletin

Summary:

1. Press release No. 1250/17.01.2017 with regard to the fact that the Ministry of Public Finance and the National Agency for Fiscal Administration are extending the Virtual Private Space to legal entities.

Extension of the Virtual Private Space to legal entities

The Press release No. 1250/17.01.2017 published on the National Agency for Fiscal Administration website refers to the fact that ANAF extends the service Virtual Private Space (SPV) to all taxpayers.

Thus, besides individuals, legal entities and non-legal entities can opt to receive, via electronic means of transmission, fiscal administrative documents issued in electronic format.

The documents that can be transmitted are as follows:

- Tax returns, contracts for transferring the use of property, as well as other various requests or complaints;
- Enforced collection related documents (summons);
- Fiscal administrative documents: tax decisions, decisions of ancillary payment obligations, decisions on amending the taxable base as a result of a tax inspection;
- Documents issued by MPF-NAFA for law enforcement, such as: notifications, notices, notice for tax inspection;
- Other documents issued by MPF-NAFA upon request, such as: tax certificate, income statement, fiscal record, etc.;
- Information regarding the taxpayers' payment obligation;
- Various requests: request for information or documents related to personal fiscal situation (social security contributions declared by the employers, request of an opinion on the application of tax legislation, requests for audience, complaints, petitions, request for public information, etc.);

- “Newsletter” containing public information of fiscal, non-fiscal and also of other nature (ads for sales and purchases of goods and services, etc.).

In order to register in the SPV, interested taxpayers (i.e., legal entities, individuals, non-legal entities) which are identified through the tax registration code or unique registration code, must fill in an electronic form and can electronically identify themselves using qualified digital certificates.
