

Wolf Theiss to launch COVID-19 dedicated page

Bucharest, 27 March 2020 – In the context of the fast evolution of the COVID-19 pandemic and of the changing legal framework, Wolf Theiss announces the launching of COVID-19: STAYING STEADY ON FLUID GROUND webpage, covering legal updates from all 13 CEE/SEE jurisdictions where the law firm is present, including Romania.

This dedicated webpage was created to support all companies that are currently facing many novel legal questions that require up-to-date information and legal analysis in various areas of law. As the developments related to COVID-19 are unfolding quickly, the team at Wolf Theiss will be providing daily updates on this site, containing the latest information about legal developments related to COVID-19 across CEE/SEE, on a wide range of industries.

On this dedicated page all Romanian legal updates are published under the COVID-19 Logbook: Legal Updates series. The Bucharest Office lawyers are monitoring the official sources of information in order to provide the most recent and relevant information as to keep all clients, partners and the Romanian business environment updated with the latest news regarding the legal framework and the emergency measures taken by the public authorities.

More important, in addition to the dedicated page, Wolf Theiss is pleased to offer its online collaboration platform WT Space to support all clients' businesses during the current COVID-19 pandemic. As working from home became the new norm for many companies, through this platform Wolf Theiss will provide support in the implementing of a work from home policy. The platform is available anytime and anywhere.

The team at Wolf Theiss is fully operational, available and ready to provide full-time support on regular matters, as well as to identify proactive solutions for specific situations arising during the current COVID-19 crisis.
