

Gov't to approve extension of furlough until mid-2021

The Government is to approve in Friday's meeting two normative acts: one for the extension of the furlough until the middle of next year and one for the extension of the measure regarding the flexible work schedule.

"We have two normative acts, an emergency ordinance and a Government decision, for the extension of the furlough until the middle of next year, respectively for the extension of the measure regarding the flexible work schedule, ie Kurzarbeit. (...) Regarding the opinions [of the Legislative Council], we have them," Labour Minister Violeta Alexandru said at the beginning of the Government's meeting.

She added that consultations with the social partners have continued and will give more details when the normative acts are debated.
