

Official Dragu: Digital vaccination certificate, a ticket for returning to life before COVID-19 pandemic

Digital vaccination certificate, a project proposed by the European Commission is like "a ticket" that we need to get in order to be able to return to our life before the COVID-19 pandemic, the President of the Senate, Anca Dragu, stated on Monday.

"We believe that this is a ticket to freedom, which will help us return to our life before the pandemic. No. It's not discrimination, precisely because it offers people the possibility of choosing the modality by which they show that they are not infected with this virus and they can continue thus their activity or holiday as they wished for. This certificate is very important for those who work in various European Union countries, for tourism, for airlines. So I believe that this will get us closer to the life we had before the pandemic," said Dragu.
