Cosmin Vasile, managing partner at ZRVP, shared the inspiration behind this initiative: "We've come to realize that the more you know, the more you see how much there is still to learn. Today, access to essential sources and types of information is more important than ever. With this in mind, we felt the need to create a comprehensive communication platform, a place for litigators to delve into the topics and perspectives that matter to us at ZRVP. That's how Litigation Academy was born."

The podcast will feature a range of esteemed guests, including prominent lawyers, judges, and university professors—leading voices in the field who offer valuable insights for young professionals. Litigation Academy reflects ZRVP's commitment to advancing the litigation practice and creating a thoughtful, informed space for honest discussions about the realities of a legal career.

Andrei Dumitrescu, ZRVP partner, described the podcast's mission: "Litigation Academy is designed to shed light on the journey of young and future colleagues, as well as to encourage constructive debate with seasoned professionals. At its core, it's a master class in litigation practice, covering every aspect, from the smallest details to the most challenging cases. We're exploring every facet of litigation law, casting light on all its corners, and discussing all facets of the litigator's life to help us better understand this complex profession."
